Why are you interested in serving on a City board, commission or committee?

This city is my hometown and I care about what happens to it. I've watched so much go on and fought hard to ensure civil and environmental justice in Corpus Christi to no avail. I wish to be in a place where I can enact at least a little bit of change. Too many people in leadership positions in the city are concerned with money and themselves. We need people for the people in leadership positions.

Civil Service Commission Civil Service Board

Why are you interested in serving on a City board, commission or committee?

Except for time spent on military service, I am a lifelong resident of Corpus Christi and so consider myself invested in our community. I am at a point in life where I have spent years gaining valuable experience in the private, public and non-profit sectors and feel that I can contribute to our community wellness. I have years of relevant experience in leadership and operational roles that provide solid skills for program-level analysis, working in group settings, planning, decision making and executing policy. I consider myself a moderate person who is interested in finding solutions through collaboration and dialogue. I have spent a career in training, mentoring, supervising, developing & executing personnel policies and evaluating members of my organizations. Specifically to the Civil Service Board & Commission, I have a career of experience in developing and supervising people. I have the experience that gives me a credible appreciation for public service by public servants. That experience is primarily in the federal/military area and so I have a keen appreciation for public sector regulatory requirements and processes. I analyze situations well and have always considered myself thoughtful and fair. I am a retired Senior Army Officer (Colonel) with an appropriate level of experience, credentials and recognition spanning a 30 year career. Beyond this, I am civically engaged and work regularly to help our community be better. I am tenacious in my engagements, forthright on positions and have solid planning and execution skills. I am confident that I can help improve and sustain the interests of Corpus Christi as a member of the Civil Service Commission and Board.
