Council Members, Director Edmonds, City Manager Peter Zanoni, Assistant Director of Parks and Recreation Joe Johnson, and Director of Public Works Richard Martinez discussed the following topics: the reason for expanding Rodd Field Road before extending Yorktown Blvd.; light signals don't need to be placed in close proximity; Rodd Field Road could provide an alternate route while the work on Yorktown Blvd. is being done; all of the 2018 bonds have been sold; the 2018 bond program projects are currently under design; if

the City follows the federal guidelines in terms of doing Rodd Field Road, the City would get credit for the overall project; a Council Member suggests that the sequencing of projects for safety purposes should be Rodd Field Road first and then Yorktown Blvd.; the importance of prioritizing the maintenance of the parks that have higher utilization; the Rodd Field Rd. extension would improve the ability for the residents in Rancho Vista to exit the subdivision safely and make a protected turn on Yorktown Blvd.; a Council Member is in support of construction being done on Yorktown Blvd., but would like to see a plan in place for all of Yorktown Blvd.; a Council Member's request to keep the FM 624 corridor in mind for construction on sidewalks and drainage; the MPO has dollars allocated for road widening; the City is actively working on damage assessment from Hurricane Harvey and there will be federal funding available; a Council Member's request to add amenities for the parks that have been adopted using community enrichment funds; what would the exit route be for the Rancho Vista subdivision; the Rancho Vista subdivision only has three entrances all off of Yorktown Blvd., which is another public safety issue; approximately 1,400 families are affected in the Rancho Vista subdivision; the construction of this project would begin in late 2021 or early 2022 and completion of this project would be sometime in 2023; the City does not own the right-of-way of the easement; a Council Member's contention that Rodd Field Rd. is the most important project for District 5; a Council Member's concern that for safety purposes Yorktown Blvd. needs to be done before Rodd Field Rd.; Rancho Vista is designed to feed out to Yorktown Blvd. not to Rodd Field Rd.; if there are any additional approved projects that would benefit from Rodd Field Rd. expansion; there has been discussion to switch priorities between Rodd Field Rd. and Yorktown Blvd.; if Rodd Field Rd. is done first then the construction on Yorktown Blvd. would be easier to accomplish, similar to how Slough Road was done; there is no access from Rancho Vista to Rodd Field Rd.; the signalized intersection would be at Yorktown Blvd. and Rodd Field Rd.

Council Member Hernandez made a motion to approve the resolution, seconded by Council Member Garza. This Resolution was passed and approved with the following vote:

Aye: 7 - Council Member Barrera, Council Member Garza, Council Member Guajardo, Council Member Hernandez, Council Member Hunter, Council Member Molina and Council Member Roy

Hello and good afternoon,

My name is Hannah Mitchell and I currently live in the 78404 zip-code. I am disappointed in the City's efforts to silence or otherwise ignore the requests and concerns of taxpaying, voting citizens about the seawater desalination effort - the For the Greater Good organization has been able to collect thousands of petition signatures from voting citizens, even during a pandemic, to express public concern. In 2017, over two million dollars of utility bond funds were appropriated to Freese and Nichols engineering consultants for payment of costs of studying, evaluating, determining feasibility of, and undertaking preliminary design work relating to a Seawater Desalination Project. In 2019, Nikolay Voutchkov, President of Water Globe Consultants, a consultant with Freese and Nichols, completely glossed over all of the potential environmental impacts that a desalination plant could cause during a city council meeting presentation - information from meetings with environmental stakeholders was not even disclosed to the public. Both the monetary cost, Texas Water Development Board Loan Application of $222,475,000 for design and construction (plus potential additional cost), and potential, overall environmental cost of these proposed desalination projects warrant public discussion and vote. Municipal officials should not only be listening to public concern, but also be representing the interest of the citizens. The lack of consideration for public opinion over the last four years, coupled with the new limiting of public comment (requiring individuals to fill out call-back forms to be included in public discussion), demonstrates that city leadership is more interested in silencing citizens than listening to them. Despite these efforts, we refuse to be silenced and will continue applying pressure.

Thank you,

Hannah

As a citizen of Corpus Christi, I demand that the public be allowed to vote on something so ecologically disruptive as this. We have a hard time keeping our own drinking water clean as is, and if this project goes forward, which wouldn't even be used to supply water to citizens, it would simply create more waste and pollution that would impact our most vulnerable citizens.

Even if done perfectly, which it will almost certainly not be if any other city projects are an indication, it would cause a great change in the ecological balance of our city. At the very least, the public deserves the ability to say "no" to a project that will do nothing to ease the lives of our poor, houseless, and immunocompromised, who are most affected by such a shift.

If we call ourselves a democracy, then let the people vote.

Hello, I would like to express my concern for the desalination facilities that are planned for our area. Because this project will cost millions of dollars and the potential of environmental impact is high, I am asking you to place this initiative on the November ballot so those who will be affected the most have the opportunity to approve.

While I am sure the City and all parties feel they have reviewed the cost (monetary & environmental) vs benefit aspects; I believe this issue is too big to proceed without a vote. Since this involves all the city residents, we all should be given the opportunity to give our input through a vote to approve.

Thank you for taking the time to read and consider my request.

Sincerely,

Barbara Barrera

My name is Kathy Schaefer and a long time resident of Corpus Christi. Address is 6851 Lake View Dr., Corpus Christi, 78412.

I have serious concerns regarding the desalination plants.

The following is some of the concerns I and many others have:

1. The city is considering going into debt for hundreds of millions of dollars to build desalination plants. We have the right to vote on bonds for much lower amounts, so please put this on the ballot so our voices can be heard.
2. I am concerned about our water rates in the future as the debt, operating, and maintenance costs of desalination plants add up. Our water bills have doubled already and many of us struggle to pay our bills. As a Corpus Christi resident, I want to have a public vote on whether this is wise choice for our city.
3. The City of Corpus Christi has a far from perfect record on public projects, for instance the downtown fountains don't even work and the Cole Park pier is crumbling.
So please put these desalination plants on the ballot so we voters get to decide. The impact of these desalination plants on Corpus Christi Bay and other bays could be severe. I want to be able to vote on the matter. Please let us have a voice in this serious project.

Thank you

- Sold to MVR under assumption that he would build within zoning RE limits. He misrepresented any knowledge I had of his plans to you at the last council meeting.
- City Council boat barn project SUP debacle is adjacent to this property. The city allowed construction to commence without any permits for over two years. The property is now an eyesore and homeless shelter. My property values have decreased almost 100k.
- Current project still does not satisfy current residents opposition to anything other than RE on our street.
- If this was approved I would have non RE on three sides of my property.
- Current project will not fit within the current easements and canal future use I believe.
- Process was inadequate in notification or public comment. Staff told me would not be recommended. Briefing missing numerous negative comments. 1 minute comments not adequate.

Recommend disapproval. Residents are prepared to mount legal challenges to both this and the boat barn if approved.

Re: Begin Anew with Diversity in Buccaneer Days Coronation Pageant

The time is right for a major change in the historical annual event that has been dominated by Anglos/Whites. As local residents reflect on essential and non-essential workers today the Coronation Pageant (las Donas) should also take a serious look at itself and embrace and/or include residents who are people of color who's families and their ancestors (Hispanics/Latinos) have made significant contributions to the community not just in terms of money and fund raising but have given their time in service to their community. The attached more fully describes this matter.

An occasional "token color" is not what I have In mind. I mean TRUE inclusion. I know that the candidates pay a rather hefty fee for being included in the pageant so it may be necessary for the celebrated event to have additional funding from other sources in order to be well-represented pageant of adults and young female duchesses. The City can surely put on their thinking caps and come up with a solution to the funding.

If the City and County wish to see this annual event generate a handsome return then a Coronation Pageant that accurately reflects its diverse community needs to make a major overhaul in the selection process of candidates. Hispanic Latinas and other young minority women of color participating as a duchess would be a giant step forward and the general public will undoubtedly welcome the change with enthusiasm. I am confident there will be an increase in attendance and ticket sales at all of the activities and events including the fun & games/festivities if this transformation becomes the norm for the community.

Thank you for your attention.

This is a follow-up to the attached interest in diversity re the annual Coronation Pageant via Buccaneer Days.

If you are not convinced that young white people including young Texans are not influenced by parental roles then take a look at the eruption on the campus at TSU the day following Trump's victory at the polls - see attached - it sets out articles in the TSU campus newspaper citing fears/concerns of a young Latina nursing student who is the daughter of my former neighbors in Houston prior to my relocation to Corpus in 2007.

Pro-Trump flyers on Texas State campus call for 'torture' of school officials

*By Denise Cervantes -
Nov 10, 2016*

Pro-Trump flyers were found posted in Texas State restrooms and buildings Nov 9., a day after republican candidate Donald Trump was elected into presidency.

The flyers, posted by a group named "Texas State Vigilantes" called for the "arrest and torture" of "deviant university leaders spouting off all this diversity garbage."

According to Matt Flores, university spokesperson, the flyers have been deemed as criminal activity and are currently undergoing investigation.

The flyer states, "now that our man (Donald Trump) is elected and republicans own both the senate and the house – time to organize tar and feather vigilante squads and go arrest and torture those deviate university leaders spouting off all this diversity garbage."

The picture accompanying the flyer has been around since at least 2008 with just the word vigilantes on it. Some group has added the Texas State above it and is using it for themselves as the "Texas State Vigilantes."

"We want students to feel safe on campus," Flores said. "We're trying to reassure everybody where free expression is encouraged but at the same time we want there to be a sense of civility."

A mass e-mail was sent out to the university by president Denise Trauth in response to the flyers.

"Texas State strives to maintain an atmosphere that protects free speech, but one that is respectful to other members of the Bobcat community," Trauth stated. "Threats absolutely have no place on our campus or in a free society, and anyone who is directly threatened should notify University Police immediately."

Amber Newman, public relations junior, said although anxious, the responses to the election and fliers on campus have not come as a surprise.

"I'm not shocked," Newman said. "That's the crazy thing about it, as crazy and as outdated as it is, I know people who think like that. But what is crazy to me is there is a group like that on campus actively trying to pursue people of color.”

Samantha Lopez, theater education sophomore, said no matter who is president, the country needs to come together as a whole and be supportive of one another.

“The fact that (flyers) were posted scares me,” Lopez said. “I don’t think just because who is voted defines the way someone should act towards another person.”

Lopez said people should address and express their feelings in a more peaceful manner, regarding the anti-trump protest held on campus Nov. 10.

“I never really imagined that it would happen to this extent,” Lopez said. “If this is what happened after not even 24 hours after he was elected I can’t think about what’s going to happen two years from now or four years from now if he is reelected.”

Flores said students feeling unsafe on campus should report any crime to the university police department and utilize services such as bobcat bobbies, a program with a mission to safely escort students on campus.

“The one thing we do stress to everybody,” Flores said. “If this is an issue of free speech or someone threatening someone with their speech we believe there is no place for this at our university we want those individuals who feel threatened to let police know.”

Students protest in quad after Trump elected

*By Bri Watkins -
Nov 10, 2016, 2:44 pm*

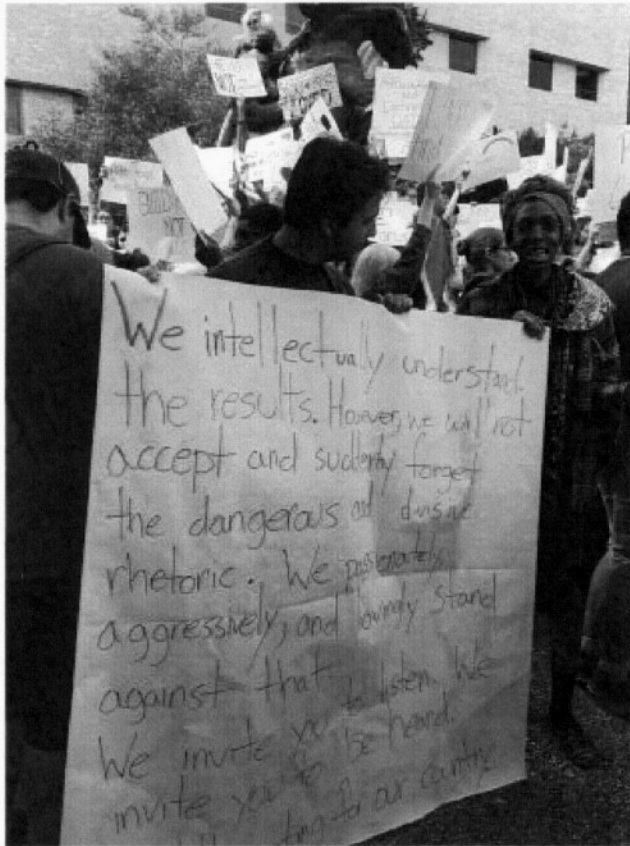

A crowd full of students at Texas State University have gathered in the quad to partake in a protest against president-elect Donald Trump.

Students assembled around the stallion at 8 a.m., and the crowd has grown by the hour.

Erika Freeman said she was in tears of joy from seeing how many people came out here to stand up for their rights.

"We aren't sitting here trying to bash Trump. We just want peace within the community. People are fearful," Freeman said. "We want to come together, and we want our voices to be heard."

Freeman said she was astonished when she saw Hays County show up red on Tuesday night and decided to speak up for what she believes in, even if people disagree.

"Tomorrow I'm going to be out here, even if I'm the only one. I may not be making the biggest difference, but I will have my voice heard," Freeman said. "I don't want my rights taken away. As a female, as being part black, as being bi-sexual, if I fall in love with a female I want to be able to marry her in the long run."

The University Police Department defined the protest as peaceful, but they are on alert to step in if needed.

"I was fearful because someone is going to attack me because I'm black or because I am bi-sexual," Freeman said.

Grayson Trygar is also among one of the protesters, holding up a sign that read "if you aren't afraid, you are privileged."

"(Trump) has made some really blatantly discriminatory comments. I think as an American, if you vote for someone who makes those blatantly discriminatory comments, then you are going against American values," Trygar said. "Somehow, we gave in to that fire as a nation, and he got elected, and I don't understand how that happened."

Students in the quad have sung the Star Spangled Banner as well as songs about love. Trump supporters, Love Trumps Hate, and Black Lives Matter supporters are all part of the protest. Arguments as well as peaceful conversations have gone on throughout the protest.

The Texas State chant has been yelled periodically throughout the protest to resounding cheers.

The protest stems from student's feelings of fear on campus and the need to show love to all people. Freeman and Trygar both agreed that students are fearful with Trump reigning as president, especially after the controversial flier incident.

On Wednesday, supporters of president-elect Donald Trump distributed fliers around campus that read "go arrest and torture those deviant university leaders."

Denise Trauth, president of Texas State, immediately sent out an email after the incident, encouraging students to remain unified in a time of differences in belief and emotions, during this transition.

"As Bobcats our aim should be to better understand that which causes divisions among us and to work toward strengthening our bond as a university community," Trauth said. "Constructive dialogue is the best way to achieve this goal."

While there is a Love Trumps Hate rally happening there are students on campus being disrespectful to others based on their looks alone. Denise Cervantes, lifestyle editor, was sitting alone waiting for her class to start when she was spat because she's a minority and told she shouldn't be at this university anymore.

President Trauth sent out another email just now:

Some professors have asked their students how they feel. They responded they are scared.

I was very dissapointed, disgusted and amazed with the results. I was really hoping that Hilary would win, but honestly i only voted for her because i cant stand Trump. I cried when i saw that Trump became the new president because i cant believe that a man that spread so much hate around the nation with no background in politics actually won.

I will never be ashamed of being Hispanic/Latina but that's going to be hard. On campus many people already started spreading hate. We have an area called the quad which is were basically all the classes are located and a group of white fraternity brothers were screaming at people of color "Go back where you came from beamer" "we dont need yall here". Also some were driving around and started screaming at this young women who they made cry. There was also a student walking around blasting a song about Trump and he was holding a sign saying build that wall but campus police arrested him. Honestly, today was just horrible on campus, people were scared, being protective and defensive. Even i was one of them, I was scared that someone would say something to me because i honestly wouldn't know how to respond. I've been lucky enough to never have hate towards me or my family so far and i really hope it stays that way.

Trash cans not picked up before storm - pet waste & trash all over beaches & in the water.

Who is responsible for overseeing this job? This is the second time in less than 2 months. This is spreading disease, pollution, ETC.

This is not an isolated event or location.

Unlawfully closing our beaches in the first place - and then employees extending closures after judge orders have expired.

First and foremost: protect our health & environment by removing toilets & trash. Keep beaches open per TX law.

Secondly, stop wasting our tax dollars with futile jobs prior to coastal storms.

My family is concerned over the closing of pedestrian & vehicle access to our beaches.
Beach staff/CCPD are going against county judge expired orders & restricting pedestrian beach access. The county judge is going against TX state laws in restricting pedestrian beach access. We have a right to the beach access roads & the beaches of our preference- not the only ones the judge deems appropriate.
Perhaps if the city had not campaigned for tourists to flock here, we would not be in this mess. Nevertheless, the local residents have had enough of this government overreach.

In regards to storm prep:

Whose job is it to oversee the removal of portable toilets, trash pick up, & removal of trash bins on our beaches prior to tropical storms? There is human waste, animal waste from trash bins, & trash littered all over our beaches & in the water. This is the second time in less than 2 months (previous storm/disturbance same exact issue)! This situation needs to be resolved, as it can spread disease, virus, bacteria & pollution.

THIS IS NOT A STORM CLEANUP ISSUE. THIS IS A STORM PREP BEFOREHAND ISSUE. JUST LIKE RESIDENTS ARE ENCOURAGED TO SECURE OUTDOOR ITEMS THAT CAN BECOME HAZARDOUS - THE CITY AND COUNTY NEED TO REMOVE TOILETS AND TRASH BINS AS THEY ARE HAZARDOUS TO OUR HEALTH AND ENVIRONMENT WHEN LITTERED ALL OVER OUR BEACHES!

Please find the cause of the problem/department: whether it is City of Corpus Christi, Nueces County, City of Port Aransas, or a state/national park & FIX IT!

Also - beach please make a clear order: Are beaches open/closed?

Beach closure to decrease the spread of SARS-CoV-2, the causative agent of the Covid 19 global pandemic, is both unnecessary and unreasonable.

Social distancing is easily accomplished on the open beaches, as is wearing a mask and using hand sanitizers.

Beaches provide for a source of exercise for many individuals, and to the best of my knowledge this has been declared an essential activity in the state of Texas, as is the procurement of food for those who fish or otherwise legally obtain permissible aquatic harvest.

Arbitrarily "closing beaches and/or beach access points" will likely do little to address the situation your county is currently suffering from.

Better provisioning of PPE, sanitation stations, and closing/limiting access to large retail stores/malls/businesses will likely ensure a more positive effect on decreasing the county wide spread of SARS-CoV-2, as would improving contact tracing and ensuring that those identified as positive are truly in quarantine.

In a nutshell, when the beaches are closed, surfers should still be allowed to surf. We know the risks. It is NOT your job to protect us. We dealt with this when I was on city council. The barricades on the access roads were moved to the dunes to allow us to access the Gulf. It is our decision whether to go surfing. I think about California, the state of the greatest government control. When storm surf arrives, people come from all over the world to surf Half Moon Bay. Many are hurt every year. Some die. The government does not intervene. I ask you to review the policy put in place when I was on council and consider that in Texas, the government should back off of restricting our access to the Gulf of Mexico. In the Outer Banks the rule for large surf is this: only surfers with a leash are allowed to enter the water. Seems simple enough to me. Please consider putting this into effect

In reference to the news release regarding brush cleanup from Hurricane Hanna: Some residents have received warnings for setting out larger limbs that fell from their trees during the storm. There was an announcement prior to the storm that suggested that there would be an after-storm pickup for debris and brush, but it was never stated officially. Some folks had this message in their heads when they set their limbs on the roadside as they did after Harvey. We are requesting either an early pickup for brush or a Community Cleanup Event as we have had in the past. Large roll-off bins could be placed near the lift station on Jester as a quick alternative to the first two suggestions. It would probably be the most workable. Thank you for all that you are doing during what continues to be unusual times.

Dear City Elected Officials, I am contacting you regarding the Covid situation at our senior living facilities. I have expended considerable effort to contact other state and local government officials on this issue, to no avail, so I am hoping that you will be able to achieve some resolution. I copied below part of a letter to the Governor to explain the issue.

In May, the governor issued an order to test all staff and residents of senior living facilities. This issue seems to have disappeared as everyone assumes it was completed. But in fact, it was never completed. At Mirador neither the residents nor all of the staff there were tested, 3 months later. The adjoining Assisted Living staff and residents were not tested. Now with positives and at least 1 death in AL, residents were not tested. Many regular staff were replaced with contract workers that move between facilities, which is dangerous. I contacted: Mirador (who say state is responsible), HHSC (assigned a case number, have not provided further information), local government officials from the health district city and county (who failed to respond or to even make numbers or information available publicly), and even the local television stations who remain mute. Please take action to provide information and transparency to the public, and to get the required testing and tracing.

Sincerely, Kirk Cammarata

My public comments will be:

Dear Council,

Good afternoon. I'm writing to urge city council to let the people vote on the Desalination Loan of $222.5 million.

In the aftermath of Hurricane Hannah, on this very morning, I heard Judge Barbara Canales speak of how we fortified the access beach roads to protect life and property. We've had the information from other hurricanes to learn how to prepare. I heard the Judge repeatedly speak about “restoration and nourishment” and “caring” for life and property and the destruction from the storm surges.

We also have a wealth of scientific data and information to show us the incredible surge of damage to our bay with a desalination plant: We know about the excessive “brine” that it produces that kills our marine life and destroys an entire ecosystem, we know that it cuts us off from our fishing, birding, tourist industry, our spectrum of health, while costing us millions and using millions of gallons of our own fresh water.

Yes, let’s use our knowledge, be good stewards of our home and our hard won democracy. The people should have a voice in how we care and nurture our home. Put the Desalination Loan on the ballot. #savetheccbay.org
