Air Traffic Control Specialist Shift Leader

Duties, Accomplishments and Related Skills:

Served as Air Traffic Control Specialist for a Visual Flight Rule (VFR) tower and a Precision Approach Control Radar Approach. Alternately performed radar control and tower responsibilities. Was assigned to other positions of operation as required, to include shift supervisor and training supervisor.

Controlled aircraft using radar, ensuring precise alignment of both search and precision radar screens. Established and maintained positive radar identification of aircraft, issuing turns and altitude so as to establish and maintain appropriate separations. Vectored aircraft to the final approach course by issuing glide path and azimuth information. On final approach, ensured that aircraft being vectored remained within the airfields delegated airspace. Considered radar equipment capabilities, aircrafts position, speed, and altitude in respect to terrain clearance, control towers traffic density, priorities, emergencies, weather and wind, lost communication and lost radar procedures, how approach will terminate, and airfield conditions. Made decisions involving the order of departures and arrivals, designation of active runway and possible simultaneous use of runway and other landing areas.

Issued instructions and clearances to aircraft operating in the tower's area of responsibility. Considered the position, type, speed, direction, number and capabilities to aircraft wishing to depart from or land at this airport. Considered the pattern, direction, condition of runways, approaches in progress, noise abatement requirements, wake turbulence and traffic information. Made decisions involving the time and direction of departures/arrivals. Issued Instrument Flight Rules (IFR) clearances received from FAI Approach Control to provide initial separation between IFR arrivals/departures and between successive visual flight rule arrivals/departures
