FAA Lease Agreement

- The lease agreement is for the operation of an Airport Surveillance Radar (ASR).
- The ASR provides a real-time picture of the airspace around the airport, enabling air traffic controllers and the FAA to manage air traffic safely and efficiently. It's a crucial tool for preventing accidents and keeping the skies organized.
- The FAA currently leases land that houses their ASR, and both the FAA and the Airport wish to renew this lease for 20 years.
- This lease is identical to the previous 20-year lease, with the addition of two security clauses, 6.9.5-1 and 6.9.5-2.
