Dear Mayor, City Council, and City Manager,

In reading all the information regarding IDA No. 110B for Bootstrap Energy LLC I am wondering how many of you have spent a close to a thousand hours researching cryptocurrencies as I have. Straight up cryptocurrencies are a zero-sum game or a greater fool's game, with attributes of multi-level marketing and a Ponzi scheme combined. This type of operation should receive zero incentives, subsidies, or tax breaks from the city, which in effect comes from the city taxpayers. Cryptocurrency mining provides the least number of jobs per kilowatt hour of energy consumed of any industrial process. In the Bootstrap Energy presentation, it lists 35 jobs per site at a 300-megawatt load per site. This is an enormous amount of electricity which will force electricity rates up for all other electricity users. It is also likely that Bootstrap will have an uninterrupted power supply agreement so in times of strain on the grid they will continue to receive power while citizens power is cut off. Of course, they will likely sign an agreement to cut their power demand in times of crisis but only if they are paid to do it. This payment will be made indirectly by the other ratepayers.

In looking at Bootstrap Energy LLC's website it is lacking substance regarding past projects, company leadership, finances, and provides a link to LinkedIn to view all "2 employees". It lists a suite in Dallas as their location. This should raise eyebrows at the very least.

Besides being the biggest waste of electricity ever invented cryptocurrency mining creates massive amounts of e-waste. How will this e-waste will be disposed of and will taxpayers by subsidizing this as well? Bitcoin's growing e-waste problem - Digiconomist

Most all experts in the field of computer science agree that cryptocurrencies have no value. They have no earning and provide no dividends. They only have value in what a greater fool will pay for them. At some point when there aren't any more greater fools the prices will collapse. Please check out this lecture to just one of the many computer science experts, regarding cryptocurrencies. Computer Security 161 Cryptocurrency Lecture - YouTube

In summary, cryptocurrencies provide no value, use an enormous amount of electricity without producing any usable goods, raise electricity rates for all other ratepayers, provide hardly any jobs, create tons of e-waste, and pump tons of CO2 into the atmosphere associated with the energy generation required to run their operations. Please contact me with any questions.

John Weber

Topic Please vote against 22-0563 which would increase homelessness

Agenda Item Number 13

Describe Feedback: Please vote against ordinance 22-0563 which would authorize disconnection of utility services for failure to remedy a violation of code.

I realize that it can be hard to get property owners to respond to code violations but this method will put many people out of their homes and increase the city's homeless population. More citizen-friendly cities solve this issue by passing ordinances that allow the cities to make emergency repairs and bill the property owner. That addresses the problem without making people homeless.

We need solutions that do not keep happening on the backs of vulnerable citizens. Please vote no on 22-0563.

Topic	Vote against corporate welfare
Agenda Item Number	25,26 27+28
Describe Feedback:	Please vote against Industrial District Agreement 110. No new IDAs should be approved, especially not for polluters who will require so much energy when the grid is not adequately supporting household energy for our citizens at present. It is time to end the corporate welfare and make sure industry pays its taxes like the rest of us. Please vote no on this IDA.

Describe Feedback:	Dear Mayor Guajardo and Councilmembers, I am submitting my comments in opposition to the proposed deal with Bootstrap Energy LLC. The proposed project would be detrimental to the area because cryptomining data centers consume excessive amounts of electricity. The demand would create higher electrical bills for locals when we are already paying high utility bills, along with stressing a fragile electrical grid. Also, the uncertainty with crypto does not mean long-term security so to invest public lands in this would be asinine. Speak to residents where there are data centers and they will tell you about the high costs, noise pollution, and waste created by these data centers. This is 21st century technology the city should be selling itself out to. Please reconsider this deal and vote NO!

Thank you.
